Please note: Brochure information current as of November 2014. Prices subject to change.
We are delighted to welcome you to ELS/Nice, located on the campus of SKEMA Business School. SKEMA is a leading European business school that teaches five Bachelor’s, 15 Master’s of Science (MSc) and two Doctorate programs entirely in English.

ELS/Nice offers a truly international experience at the heart of Europe, which will help you to prepare for university studies in English, whether at SKEMA Business School itself or at one of the increasing number of European universities offering degree programs in English.

In this guide you will find some useful information to help you prepare for your time at ELS/Nice at SKEMA Business School.
First of all, you will need to check whether you must arrange a visa for your studies at ELS/Nice. In general you will need a visa, unless you are a holder of a European Union passport.

Courses of 12 weeks or less

If you are planning to come only for a period of 12 weeks or less, then you can apply for a short-stay visa. However, nationals of many countries will not require a visa for a short-stay program; the list includes citizens of Brazil, Japan, South Korea, Taiwan and Hong Kong.

For a full list of the nationals exempt from applying for a short-stay visa, please go to http://www.campusfrance.org/en/page/countries-whose-nationals-need-not-obtain-a-visa-stays-3-months-or-less.

All nationals of countries not listed in the link should apply for a short-stay visa via your local French embassy or consulate. For more information about the process, go to http://www.diplomatie.gouv.fr/en/france/coming-to-france/getting-a-visa/article/general-information-for-foreign#sommaire_2.
Courses of 12 weeks or more

If you are planning to study for more than 12 weeks (and this includes students who are coming for a short program of study at ELS/Nice but who intend to continue immediately afterwards on a program of study within SKEMA itself), then you will need to apply for an Extended Stay student visa, known as the VLS-TS; once again, European Union passport holders are exempt from applying for a visa.

Depending on your nationality, the VLS-TS will either be applied via your local embassy/consulate or, in the 31 countries where there is a CampusFrance office, then the visa will be issued by CampusFrance using a process called the CEF procedure. For a list of the 31 countries where the CEF visa procedure applies, please go to http://www.campusfrance.org/en/page/a-country-using-cef-procedure. Otherwise, you can get details of your nearest French embassy/consulate at http://www.mfe.org/index.php/Annuaires/Ambassades-et-consulats-francais-a-l-etranger.

Please note that if you require a VLS-TS Extended Stay Visa, you will also need to apply for a residency permit soon after your arrival in France. Further information about this can be found on page 7 of this guide.

Once you have arranged any visa that will be required for entry into France, it is time to make your travel arrangements. We recommend that you fly into Nice International Airport (http://en.nice.aeroport.fr/) if possible. There are many direct flights to Nice from within Europe as well as a few routes from outside Europe (primarily from North Africa and the Middle East). If you do not have the option of a direct flight to Nice, then we would recommend flying into Paris Charles de Gaulle Airport, from which there are seven flights daily to Nice with Air France.
YOUR ARRIVAL IN FRANCE

We recommend that you arrange to arrive on the Sunday prior to the start of your course. To transfer from Nice Airport to your accommodation, we recommend the following options:

1) ELS airport pick-up
If you have selected ELS housing, ELS can arrange for a pick-up service to take you from Nice Airport to your chosen accommodation at a cost of 75 euros one-way or 130 euros for a round-trip. If you choose this service, please ensure that you send your flight details to ELS in good time. Full details regarding how and where to meet the driver will be included in your airport transfer confirmation letter.

2) Public transport
If you have made your own housing arrangements, there are regular bus services to Antibes, Cannes and Nice (further information can be found at http://en.nice.aeroport.fr/Passengers/DIRECTIONS-PARKING/Getting-to-the-airport/Buses-Shuttles/Search-for-a-service).

3) Taxi rank
Taxis are freely available at the taxi rank, located directly outside the arrivals halls of both Terminals 1 and 2. Expect to pay at least 70 euros for a taxi to Sophia Antipolis (where the SKEMA campus is located) or to Antibes or Juan-les-Pins; prices are likely to be higher in late evening. Please note that most taxis accept cash in euros only (for those who wish to get euro banknotes at the airport, a money exchange and ATMs are available in the arrivals halls of both terminals).

RESIDENCY PERMIT

If you are not a European Union passport holder and you have entered France on an Extended Stay VLS-TS visa, then you will almost certainly need to apply for a residency permit once in France. The residency permit is usually valid for one year and can be renewed on an annual basis within France if you continue as a student. Unlike the visa, which gives you permission to enter France, the residency permit legally allows you to stay in France for the duration of its validity.

You will need to bring the following documents with you to France in order to apply for the residency permit:

- A birth certificate translated into French by a certified translator (bring the original and the French translation with you)
- A copy of your vaccination certification

ELS will arrange for you to meet SKEMA’s International Services team, whose areas of responsibility include helping students to get their residency permit during the first week of the program. As well as the two documents listed above, you will need to bring your passport and a completed OFII (French Office of Immigration and Integration) form, which ELS staff will help you to complete during Orientation.

Within three months of submitting the application, you will receive an appointment for a medical exam at the OFII. The date and time of the medical exam cannot be changed, and it is essential that you attend! You will need to bring your passport, a passport photo, a copy of your vaccination certification and proof of your address in France to the meeting. In addition, you will need to have pre-paid the fee for the residency permit, for which you will receive a stamp as proof of payment. The cost of a residency permit is 58 euros for a first application and 30 euros for a renewal. Once you have done all of this, you will be issued your residency permit, authorizing you to stay and study in France.

Although the process may seem complicated, do not worry – our staff will guide you through the process step by step!
France offers a high standard of medical care provided by the French state. However, it is important to note that, depending on your personal circumstances, there may be some costs in order to ensure that you will be treated by a doctor or at a hospital in France in the event that you fall ill during your studies.

If you are a European Union national
You will automatically qualify for medical treatment within France regardless of course length as long as you have brought a European Health Insurance Card (EHIC) with you. The EHIC will enable you to access key medical services within France.

If you are a non-European Union national
If you have enrolled on a program of more than three months and are under 28 years of age, it is compulsory to register for the French Social Security Health Care Insurance at a cost of 200 euros per year. If, however, you are 28 years of age or over and you have enrolled on a program of one year or more, you must register instead for Universal Health Coverage, known as CMU. This will normally be free of charge for students as there is a minimum salary threshold of 9,164 euros before any charge is made.

Please note that both the French Social Security Health Care Insurance and the CMU take some time to arrange (often three months in the case of CMU), so private medical insurance needs to be arranged to cover the first three to four months of your stay.

If you are under 28 years of age and studying for less than three months, or you are at least 28 years of age and enrolled for less than a year, you are not covered by either scheme and so should arrange private medical insurance for the duration of your stay.

Our recommendation
Non-EU students will be required to take out comprehensive travel and medical insurance for the duration of their stay. ELS offers comprehensive insurance coverage through the company CareMed at a cost of 50 euros per four-week session (or just 12.50 euros per week). Please note that this insurance coverage is not open to students already residing in France. Alternatively, students may make their own insurance arrangements but will be asked to provide a copy of their insurance policy on their first day at school. In the event that a non-EU student does not have a valid health insurance policy upon arrival, ELS will arrange coverage through CareMed at the student’s expense.

EU students should ensure that they have an EHIC with them. ELS recommends that EU students also take out private travel and medical insurance to ensure complete coverage.

If you are continuing on to study at SKEMA Business School, your annual tuition fee includes the cost of Social Security Health Care Insurance. However, you need to ensure adequate coverage during your ELS program.
Public transport in the area is excellent and reasonably priced. We would recommend the following bus routes, depending on where you are staying:

Nice – Bus 230 can be picked up at various points along the Promenade des Anglais in central Nice and drops off within 100 metres of ELS/Nice. Approximate journey time: 30 – 45 minutes, depending on traffic.

Antibes – Bus 100 Express departs from the central Place de Gaulle and takes approximately 20 minutes to get to the SKEMA bus stop. Alternatively, buses 1 and 9 also go from Antibes to Sophia Antipolis. Line 9 has a stop (Croix Rouge) located 200 metres from the Relais Sud residence, and Line 1 picks up close to the Apparthotel Odalys Olympe (nearest stop: Nova Antipolis); both routes have a stop next door to SKEMA. Approximate journey time: 25 minutes from central Antibes.

Juan-les-Pins – Bus 1 departs from central Juan-les-Pins and continues via Antibes to 100 metres from ELS/Nice. Approximate journey time: 35 minutes.

Cannes – Bus 630 sets off from Cannes train station and makes its way to Sophia Antipolis. Approximate journey time: 40 minutes.

Offering wonderful opportunities for sea and snow sports, the French Riviera is without doubt one of the most attractive regions of France. Lovely weather, beautiful and varied landscapes, 120 kilometres of Mediterranean coastline. Unsurprisingly, the French Riviera attracts thousands of tourists year-round.

The rolling countryside of the Alpes-Maritimes is a great base for a wide variety of sporting activities, including trekking, climbing, skiing in the mountains and, of course, swimming and sailing in the beautiful Mediterranean Sea.

There are also many cultural highlights in the region, with great art galleries holding impressive Picasso and Chagall collections, many museums and exhibitions, a variety of music concerts in Cannes, Nice and Monaco, and the jazz festivals of Juan-les-Pins and Nice. Alternatively, you can enjoy people-watching at one of the many beach-front cafés in the region. There is always something to do in the French Riviera!

On the next three pages you will find a list of some of the towns and cities in the region worth visiting during your ELS program.

Antibes

This coastal town is a typical French Provencal town. The old town is a walled city that protects Antibes’ port, where you will see millions of euros’ worth of gleaming yachts! It is a charming and typically French part of town, with small cobbledstone streets and unique shops, a Provencal market offering fresh produce every morning, traditional restaurants and a number of pubs. It makes for great strolling, browsing and shopping. It is also a cultural centre with various museums:

- The Picasso Museum: In 1949 the Grimaldi Castle became the Picasso Museum, the first French museum to be dedicated to the work of a living artist. The museum boasts 25 paintings, 44 drawings and several ceramic pieces created by Picasso while he lived in the region.

- Peynet Museum: The museum houses over 400 works, paintings, post cards, sculptures, decorative arts and costumes, the oldest of which date back to the 1930s.

- Archaeological Museum: On display are numerous objects discovered in the many archaeological digs held locally as well as from underwater dives around the Cap d’Antibes. There are Greek vases, Roman ceramics, inscriptions, mosaics, a marble fountain and a hoard of treasures discovered during the port’s construction.
Cap d’Antibes
The beautiful homes of millionaires and the coveted sandy beaches vie for attention with the breathtaking panoramic view from the Cap. It encompasses the Baie des Anges, or Bay of Angels, a bay that lies between Nice and Antibes. In addition, those who enjoy outdoor sports will love the many jogging trails that run along the seashore.

Cannes
Cannes is approximately 8 kilometres west of Juan-les-Pins. It is famous for the international film festival in May that attracts top stars, as well as for its luxury shops on La Croisette, the wide boulevard that runs along the town’s seashore. Aside from its bustling summer season, it’s a quaint town known for its shopping and night-life. It also boasts a castle and several museums. Nearby, St. Marguerite Island and St. Honorat Island make up the Lérins Islands, to which ferries run regularly from Cannes and Juan-les-Pins. St. Marguerite Island has a fort and a historic prison, while St. Honorat Island has a Cistercian Abbey where 21 monks still live. Both islands are also renowned for their exotic flora.

Grasse
Grasse is the perfume capital of the world, with a number of perfume factories located here, the most famous of which is Fragonard. Grasse is also a picturesque city and has interesting museums such as the perfume museum, the costume museum and the jewellery museum.

Juan-les-Pins
This is the fashionable town of the French Riviera located between Cap d’Antibes and Cannes. Life in Juan-les-Pins is divided into two seasons: the busy summer season and the calmer winter season. In summertime the town serves as a meeting place for celebrities and millionaires, and it is a very popular destination for tourists. The city’s casino and its numerous luxury boutiques are just a few paces away from its bars and nightclubs. It is a charming little town with a long sandy beach, on which various bars and restaurants are directly located. Although calmer during the rest of the year, Juan-les-Pins is reputed for its diverse entertainment events, such as its world-renowned jazz festival in July and the Palais des Congrès that holds year-round events and international conferences.
Menton
Menton is known in France for its unusually warm climate. Due to this, the city boasts magnificent gardens and an amazing array of beautiful fruits and vegetables. Its agricultural prowess is demonstrated each year with its Lemon Festival in February, where citrus fruits are used to create many fantastic sculptures.

Monaco
The principality of Monaco is a 45-minute drive from Antibes, and it is a day trip that should not be missed. Around its port area, immense buildings have been constructed right into the hillside. Also be sure to discover its coveted casinos, palaces such as the Hôtel de Paris and the Hôtel Hermitage, its numerous Ferraris, and the Fontvielle quarter. Perched above the principality, the royal palace dominates the landscape and is surrounded by the old quarter and the Oceanographic Museum. Finally, slightly to the east there is the extremely well-known city of Monte-Carlo.

Monaco hosts the famous Formula 1 Grand Prix each year through its narrow, winding streets, and it has become one of the best-known sporting events in the world. For the drivers and teams alike, winning in Monaco represents the most prestigious victory of the season.

Although Monaco is a principality of France, local police often stop cars for identity checks. For EU citizens, your national identity card will be enough. For non-EU citizens, a passport is preferred. If you choose to enter the “Big Casino”, an official identification document is required for its computer security system.

Nice
Easily accessible by car, bus or train, Nice is located approximately 25 kilometres from Antibes. The city’s best-known landmark is the Promenade des Anglais, a wide boulevard lined with palm trees that runs along the seafront. On one side of the boulevard are palace hotels such as the famous Negresco, and on the other side is the beach and the Baie des Anges. Nice is also known for its main square, Place Massena, its busy shopping street rue Jean Medecin; its numerous museums, including the Matisse Museum and the Chagall Museum; its carnival at the end of February (www.nicecarnaval.com); its typically Mediterranean port; and above all, the old section of the town.
In the latter, there are daily provincial markets, quaint cobblestone streets and an abundance of restaurants and bars, such as le Bouche à Oreille or the “Thor” pub. At one end of the Promenade des Anglais is Castle Hill, where you can view the ruins of the city’s original site and a historic castle. From the top of the hill, there are spectacular views over the Mediterranean Sea and the city of Nice.

Saint Paul de Vence

Perched on a rock, Saint Paul de Vence is primarily a medieval town with cobblestone streets and many art boutiques. It is known for its fortifications, and it is also the burial place of the painter Marc Chagall. Finally, there is a beautiful chapel a few kilometres away that was designed by the renowned painter Henri Matisse.

Saint Tropez

Made famous in the 1960s by Brigitte Bardot, this town has two faces: in winter it resembles an authentic little fishing village, but in summer it becomes a playground for the very rich, where many celebrities and huge yachts can be seen. The finest sandy beaches of the French Riviera are here: don’t miss the beach at nearby Ramatuelle.

Further afield, the cities of Lyon, Marseille, Toulouse and, of course, Paris boast many visitor attractions and are all easily accessible by train (in the case of Paris, you may decide to fly, as the train journey is approximately six and a half hours each way).

This is just a brief list of some of the many places of interest in the local area. For further information, please speak to ELS Student Services – they will be happy to give you more ideas about what to see and do as well as advise you about special events taking place in the region!
Bank account
If you are enrolled on a program of three months or more, you will be able to open a bank account in France. In order to open an account, you will need the following documents:

- Identity card
- Passport
- Residency permit (non-European Union students only)
- Proof of domicile – you will need to bring an original of one of the following documents (which must be less than three months old): your rental agreement, electricity bill, France Telecom bill or water bill

Alternatively, if you have not yet gotten your residency permit, it is possible to apply for a non-resident bank account. To do this you will simply need your passport and a certificate from SKEMA. Please note that this type of account will not have as many services as the full bank account.

There are numerous banks in nearby Antibes and Juan-les-Pins. ELS staff can help advise you about choosing a bank.

Cost of living
This will vary quite a bit depending on your personal lifestyle. However, a typical student will spend 1000 – 1,500 euros per month. Below are the approximate costs of many popular goods and services:

- A meal at a fast-food restaurant: €6
- A meal at a local restaurant: €15 – €30
- A monthly public transport pass: €22 (€12 for students under age 26)
- A sandwich: €3.50
- A coffee: €1.50
- A baguette: €0.85
- Six eggs: €1.20
- A litre of milk: €1
- A kilo of potatoes: €1.20
- A kilo of rice: €1.90

- One night in a hotel: €50 – €100 (2 – 3 star)
- A microwave oven: €120 – €215

- A litre of petrol: €1.20 – €1.30
- Rental Accommodation: €400 – €600 per month, exclusive of utility bills

Public transport
The French Riviera region (and France in general) has excellent public transport.

Buses within the region cost €1 – €1.50 for a single journey, depending on the bus company, or you can buy monthly passes for €22 (€12 for those under the age of 26).

Single tickets can be bought on board from the driver, though remember to try to bring change or small notes with you. Monthly passes can be bought at the main bus stations of Sophia Antipolis (Gare Routiere des Messuges), Antibes, Vallauris and Biot. You will need to bring your passport and a photo.

Further information, including local bus routes, timetables, etc. can be found at www.envibus.fr.

If you wish to travel further afield, then the SNCF (the national train company of France) offers a network of fast trains throughout the country. Further information about routes, train times and ticket prices can be found at www.sncf.fr.

Mail
You can arrange for mail to be sent to you at the school. Simply give your friends and family the following information:

Your name
ELS France SAS, c/o SKEMA Business School
60 Rue Feodor Dostoievski
06902 Sophia Antipolis Cedex
France

To send mail to your friends and family, you will normally need to go to a post office (“La Poste”) to buy a stamp. The cost of a stamp will vary depending on the weight of the package and the destination country. For further details, go to www.laposte.fr.

Cellphones
The main operators are Orange, SFR and Bouygues Telecom.

There are many different plans available depending on your need. If you plan to stay in France for less than one year, it is best to bring your own mobile phone and buy a pay-as-you-go SIM card in France. If you are planning to stay in France for more than a year and have a residency permit, then it is possible to arrange a pay-monthly contract of 12 months or more.

For further information, go to one of the following:
Language
Whilst your classes at ELS and later at SKEMA will be in English, the native language is French. As the French Riviera is a region popular with tourists from all over the world, staff in many restaurants, cafés and shops speak English. However, it will be an advantage to have at least a basic understanding of French. If you are interested in learning some French during your ELS program, please speak to ELS Student Services, who will try to help you join free French classes offered by SKEMA Business School.

Electricity
As per the rest of continental Europe, electrical appliances in France use a two-pin plug with a circular outlet (see the picture at left) and have a voltage of 220 volts. If you come from outside Europe, you will probably need to buy an adapter. It is recommended that you do this in your home country prior to departure.

Emergency telephone numbers
If you have a genuine emergency and need the police, the fire brigade or an ambulance whilst you are in France, call 112 from a mobile phone.

Public holidays
France has a number of public holidays each year. Please see below a list of holidays in 2015:

- January 1  New Year’s Day
- April 6  Easter Monday
- May 1  Labour Day
- May 8  Victory Day
- May 14  Ascension
- May 25  Pentecost
- July 14  Bastille Day
- August 15  Assumption of Mary
- November 1  All Saints’ Day
- November 11  Armistice Day
- December 25  Christmas Day
Work rights and employment

If you are an international student, then the following rules will apply:

If you are arriving on a short-term visa or on a visa waiver, you are expressly forbidden from seeking paid work opportunities in France.

If you are holding a VLS-TS long-term student visa and a valid residency permit, you may work up to 964 hours per year (equivalent to 60% of a full-time job) as long as this does not interfere in any way with scheduled classroom hours and does not prevent you from completing any additional work set by the institution on time.

If you have successfully completed a Master’s program in France, you may apply for a temporary residency permit, enabling you to stay and work in France for up to six months after graduation. Unless you have found employment paying at least 1.5 times the national minimum wage (in other words, you have been offered a salary of at least 25,000 euros per year), then you will only be permitted to work the equivalent of 60% of a full-time job. If you have found employment paying 1.5 times the national minimum wage or more, then you may enter full-time employment by filing a request for change of status from student to employee at the local prefecture.

If you are a European Union citizen, then there are no work restrictions in place, either during or post studies, with the proviso that any job found during your studies does not interfere with your ability to successfully attend classes and complete on time any work set by the institution.

Please note that, regardless of your nationality, a working knowledge of French may be required and that without this you may be unable to secure employment.
